

7 Ideas for Passover Under Quarantine, by and for Jewish College Students

With the seemingly endless month of March behind us, we're gearing up for Passover. We know your seder plans probably look different now than they did even a month ago, due to the COVID-19 pandemic, but you can still celebrate Passover.

During this period of physical distancing, it's more important than ever to create meaning and community wherever we can. Need some inspiration? Try these ideas for Passover under quarantine:

- 1 Try a new recipe

No matter how much cooking experience you do or don't have, this is a great time to experiment! With recipes for everything from classic matzah ball soup