

Focus on what is true with God

March 9, 2020 | 16 comments

If you ever want to know what is true about any given situation you face, focus on what is true with God to get the correct view and to make a positive difference.

For instance, if you look in the mirror and see a disease on your body, mentally turn from what mortal mind is reporting to you through the physical eye and concentrate on what God is telling you through divine Mind. Focus on discerning what is true with God, rather than on what mortal mind is trying to present as true in matter. What you understand to be true with God can reverse what appears to be true in matter.

Or, if you check your bank balance and find insufficient funds, mentally turn from what mortal mind is trying to tell you about the numbers and consult what divine Mind is telling you about your supply coming from God. Focus on discerning the infinite resources of Mind that can turn those numbers around and reveal enough funds.

There is always enough health, supply and love from God to meet any legitimate human need. Through spiritual sense, we discern God's help and are inspired to act on it and prove its presence.

Focus on what is true with God, rather than on what is not true from mortal mind, to find the quickest and best solutions.

Categorized under: abundance, God, health, love, Mind, spirituality, Truth

Tagged with: economy, help, Spirit, spiritual mindedness, supply