Something that never shuts down

April 1, 2020 | 24 comments

A reader snapped this picture of a banner placed in her local village and then forwarded it to me to share.

In light of all the government requests across North America and around the world to shut down nonessential businesses, I thought you'd enjoy the message.

Categorized under: community, inspiration, love

Tagged with: calm, kindness, perspective, protection, thought